2 killed, 7 injured in accident spree

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Two people were killed and seven seriously injured in three separate car accidents within eight hours last week in Romulus.

Dead are Arzilla Ellen Holcomb, 24, and Steven Lee Baynard, 24, both of Romulus.

The first accident occurred at 7 p.m. on Wednesday on Middlebelt near Goddard roads. According to Romulus police a truck was traveling south on Middlebelt and crossed the center line and hit a car head on. The driver, James Philip Little, 56 of Woodhaven was extricated from the car with assistance from the Romulus Fire Department and the "jaws of life."

There were three other family members in the car whose ages were released as 48, 23 and 28. All were seriously injured, police reported.

The driver of the semi-truck, Kenneth Harold Nielsen, 56, of Westland was arrested for drunk driving. He was also seriously injured.

Two other accidents occurred within minutes of each other about 3 a.m. Thursday.

"A car traveling northbound on Inkster Road skidded off the road. Evidently the driver, John Joseph Holcomb, 22, of Romulus tried to stop. The gas tank ruptured when he hit a tree and the driver was thrown from the car. The two passengers burned inside," Chief Charles Wilmoth said.

Holcomb was helicoptered from Heritage Hospital to an Ann Arbor hospital.

The other accident occurred when Delores Rayer, 42, of Dearborn Heights drove her car eastbound on the I-94 freeway in the westbound lane, east of Wayne Road.

"How she got in the wrong lane and how long she had been driving there no one knows," police said. "Truck drivers were warned on the CB about a vehicle in the wrong lane. One tractor trailer loaded with car partspulled over to the right lane. He thought he was out of trouble when she veered from the far lane and crashed into his truck.

"Charles Van Dyke, 44, of Conklin, was uninjured but the mechanical jaws were used to remove Rayer from her car. She was flown by helicopter to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor," explained Romulus Police Det. Ken Kraus.

"These were the first fatal accidents of the year," Wilmoth said. "All three were very serious accidents. All three drivers were known to be drinking and at fault. It's odd that all three happened within such a short period of time. This is part of the changing community with increasing traffic problems. Statistics have shown that the number of accidents has decreased. But the ones that happen are more serious. Everybody loses in these accidents. It's a problem that can't be ignored."

Chase ends with crash

Last Saturday evening, while wreckers towed their patrol car, police officers handcuffed the juvenile whom they has pursued from Romulus to Detroit.

The juvenile, whose identity is being withheld because of his age, was arrested and now waits in the Wayne County Youth Home pending Juvenile Court action, according to Romulus Detective Ken Kraus. Police were unsure of the residence of the youth. "We found addresses for him in Belleville, Garden City and Detroit," he added.

A 1984 Ford pickup truck was reported missing by a resident in Van Buren Township at 6:45 p.m. Saturday. Romulus police officers responded and "when the suspect scooted by on the I-94 freeway, we pursued him and a chase followed. The driver would not stop," Kraus reported. Romulus was assisted by Allen Park and Detroit police officers along the way.

During the chase, the driver of the stolen truck rammed the Romulus patrol car several times before exiting at Michigan Avenue.

"The chase ended in an alley behind Bruckner Street on the city's west side. After the vehicle zigzagged and jumped a curb, it careened into the cement wall of a garage and became disabled.

"The police car was damaged considerably. A wrecker was brought in. One officer was bumped around slightly. He was treated and released from a local clinic," Kraus concluded.

Easter excitement

Romulus second graders were invited to attend an Easter Egg Hunt at the junior high school last week. While the Easter bunny whispered to Natalie Allen, 7 of Wick School, classmates Joel Hamilton, 7, and his friends scrambled around in search of goodies.

This abandoned Easter egg didn't get away from Luke Clark, 8, of Halecreek School.

Officials question wrong filing date

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Both the incumbent and the challenger seeking the one vacant term on the Romulus School Board may be ineligible to seek office.

Jo Ann Marvicsin, who presently serves as the board vice president, and newcomer Howard Kesner filed petitions with the city clerk's office prior to the published deadline for such action, April 13. The correct deadline date was April 6, however, and a miscalculation in the office of the clerk resulted in the publication of the wrong deadline.

It was shortly before 4 p.m. last Monday that Kesner walked away from the clerk's office slightly relieved. He deposited petitions required by state law for persons wishing to fill a school board vacancy, just before deadline, or so he thought.

Romulus officials were notified of the error when within the hour Wayne County officials called to inquire about any school board petitioners.

Whether the state will validate the signed petitions late is now a legal question. "The lawyers are checking into it," said Marvicsin, a school board member for the past nine years.

City Clerk Linda Choate explained her department miscounted "pure and simple." "I have to accept the responsibility. I thought it was the 13th when the real deadline was Monday, April 6. We published a notice two weeks before with the wrong date and nobody saw a problem with it. I believe we should have had the correct information from the school board. We received no resolutions, no notices.

City files lawsuit

A Circuit Court judge will determine the propriety of the recent expansion of the Airline Parking project during a court hearing Friday.

Romulus City Attorney Ron Mack recently filed a lawsuit in Circuit Court claiming that developer Wendall Flynn has illegally expanded the project on both public and private property within the municipality.

"This development expansion is illegal. A city street, Brandt, has been fenced in as well as several public right of ways. We are asking the court for an injunction to stop further expansion and to correct the problem. Giving them tickets has not done any good," Mack said.

Complaints surfaced last fall by area residents who said the new development shifted water run-off onto their properties

Student wins Mazda scholarship to Japan

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Mazda Car Company executives found what they were looking for in 16-year-old Romulus resident Paul Pyenta when they awarded him a two-month, all-expenses-paid trip to Japan.

Pyenta, a Romulus Highs School junior, was the perfect candidate for the Mazda scholarship. Chosen after extensive evaluations and interviews and selected from hundreds of applicants, he was the only Romulus resident who qualified as one of the seven scholarship finalists.

A panel of top executives from Eastern Michigan University, WJBK, Madza and others quizzed Pyenta about his goals and attitudes in life.

"I know I want to study medicine. Math and science have always been my strongest subjects. I dissected my first frog when I was 8 years old. I'd like to be the first doctor on the space shuttle. I want to help others," he said.

He has been active in school theatre and in sixth grade he headed the audio visual department. He was selected to represent the Junior High School in the Conference of Young Authors where he received the most outstanding award and in his spare time, he earned a green belt in Karate.

"If there's one single aspect about visiting a different land, it's gaining a degree of understanding about its people by participating in their traditions."

His high school grade point average is 4.113. Of course he's a member of the National Honor Society. He's president of his bowling league and plays trumpet in the school jazz band and has also performed solo at a wedding. And there's more.

Pyenta pursues life with refreshing enthusiasm. He finds time for sports with neighborhood friends. He works 25 hours a week at Keys and Cutlery in Southland. His parents, Stephan and Carol, are naturally proud of their son.

He writes to pen pals in the Philippines, Finland, Italy and Australia. "I've been intrigued with different lifestyles. Communicating with someone from these cultures is in itself rewarding. The experience is beyond definition," he stressed.

"If there's one single aspect about visiting a different land, it's gaining a degree of understanding about its people by participating in their traditions," he said.

His hobbies include computers, astronomy and magic. While in eighth grade he finished top of the class in a college computer course. "I've never taken another computer class but I help my friends with their classes all the time. Computers are my friend," he said.

He and his brother, Mark, are self-taught magicians and performed at numerous shows and community events including the Romulus Arts and Crafts Fair and a "lot of Girl Scout banquets."

The trip begins the end of June and ends in late August. During that time, Pyenta will live, work and play with family in Japan. He's unsure whether he would live in a city or country. "I might even end up working in a rice paddy in the middle of nowhere all summer," he chuckled.

The trip is organized by "Youth for Understanding," an international exchange student organization. The cost to Madza is about $2,500, Pyenta noted.

Associated names creative director

Ted Steinberg has been named creative director of the six Associated Newspapers, another move to make the publications more appealing and pleasing to local readers, according to President and Publisher David J. Willett.

In his new position, Steinberg, 38, will be responsible for placement of all advertising in the paper, design of the sports pages and various special sections and ensuring consistency and accuracy of the mechanical production of the newspapers.

Steinberg joins the Associated staff with a long history of experience in newspaper design and production. He formerly worked with the Chicago Sun Times, Downriver Magazine and the News Herald publications in several production capacities. He attended Michigan State University.

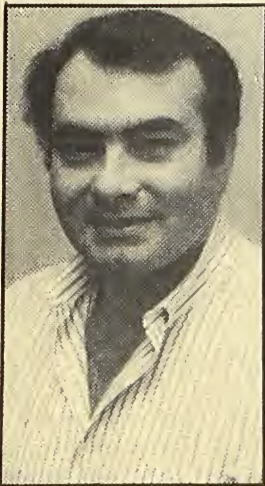

In making the announcement, Willett cited Steinberg's innate abilities and talents as welcomed additions to the Associated story of excellence. The publisher had high praise for Steinberg's past accomplishments and said he was looking forward to seeing what kind of contributions the veteran newspaper man will make at Associated.

But Steinberg isn't without a few goals of his own. A meticulous worker by nature, Steinberg said he strives for perfection and doesn't stop until he achieves it.

"I think this newspaper fits the bill as a suburban, family newspaper. It is an excellent newspaper," said Steinberg. "I want to help make it the best looking it possibly can to make the public pick it up and want to read it."

The Associated Newspapers publishes six award-winning newspapers in western Wayne County, including The Wayne Eagle, The Westland Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Inkster Ledger-Star, The Belleville Enterprise and The Romulus Roman.

Teens compete in beauty pageants

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

A majority of the 31 contestants in the Miss Michigan Teen USA pageant voted Crystal Markowski of Romulus as the person they would most like to have as their best friend.

Tears, laughter and sighs of relief filled the Novi Hilton ballroom last Saturday during the pageant activities.

"The odd thing about it was," said Crystal, "when my mother ran for Miss Tennessee in 1968, she also won the Miss Amity award. It's the same thing as Miss Congeniality."

Crystal was born in Tennessee but raised on Central Street in Romulus with three younger brothers and one sister. Her proud parents are Shirley Lange of Romulus and Thomas Markowski of Wyandotte.

The Romulus High School junior pursues many activities. She was makeup artist in school play "Neighbors" last fall. This spring she plays catcher on the softball team. She plays clarinet in the symphony band and sings in the school choir.

Crystal plans to attend college and major in theatrical arts and minor in law enforcement.

Her sponsors in the pageant were Kamper Keeper, Family Barber Shop, Albert's and her employer, McDonalds on Wayne Road. "I'm active," she concluded.

Chenauda Harris walks down the fashion runway of the Plymouth Hilton Hotel this Saturday in the Miss Michigan U.S. Teen Pageant.

Her parents, Dorothy and Theodore Harris, and her only brother, Albert, plan to be there.

Born in Annapolis Hospital, the Romulus High School senior is a life long resident of the area and now lives on Karen Street.

participate in a variety of school activities. She was chosen by her peers as student government parliamentarian.

She is the secretary on the senior legislative council and a member of the Civil Air Patrol. Last year, she visited France as a student in the French Travel Club.

After high school, Chenauda plans to attend Virginia State University and study political science.

She works as a sales consultant part-time in Hudson's, Southland. She enjoys spending time at home with her family and her two dogs, Sate and Pety. Although her favorite interest is travel she said. And she likes to cook.

"I'm real nervous about Saturday," she admitted.

Mayor discusses drug abuse with students

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Mayor Beverly McAnally got quite an education earlier this month when she attended high school for a day.

McAnally met with a small group of students at the Eagles' Nest Restaurant, a converted classroom at the school. She met with 11 students in an effort to learn more about her youngest constituents, and to help them understand the workings of municipal government.

The mayor did not hesitate to ask personal questions of the students, and they appeared open and honest in their answers to her during the two-hour session.

"What do you do with your recreation time? Play baseball, have parties at home? Do you see a lot of drug abuse?" McAnally asked.

Several students nodded affirmatively.

"Is it an accepted part of what you do? Is it cool?" she inquired.

"It's a personal choice whether to do drugs or not," responded one student.

"Do your folks care, or do they just figure they can't do anything? What do your parents worry about?" the mayor asked.

McAnally asked the students if they had jobs, where they obtained money and most importantly, she said, she asked what she could do to help them, and what anybody might do to help them.

Al Shelly, director of the Romulus Help Center, a member of the Drug Task Force was also in attendance. "Drugs are a real problem in Romulus. Is that how you see it?" he asked.

"I see it everyday," said one student. "And it's not just pot smoking. It's wipe-out or heavy drugs."

"A lot of kids don't care. They just want to see how high they can get. They'd rather be dead than not be high. I know a couple of people who died. A friend of mine jumped off a bridge. He was stoned," said another student.

"And I don't think it's worse in other places. I've been around the country and I haven't seen anything," a student noted.

"I don't think drugs are rampant but they are available. I see most of you students work. I'm not preaching. We all know drugs are a dangerous way to live. Does Romulus need a recreation center? If you had a place to go, would you go?" McAnally asked.

"Drugs are a bad situation. It's not getting better," a student concluded.

McAnally explained to students exactly what happens in the a day in the life of a mayor. And while she talked about future development in Romulus and the potential for growth and jobs, students sat spellbound. After the mayor and students finished their talk, they ate dessert together.

Lawsuit

and debris from several homes demolished by Flynn was not cleaned up.

Mayor Beverly McAnally noted, "We are eager to have new development. But no way can we allow encroachment on the public domain or on private property. We all have to live by the same rules."

She added that the city has been tempted to go down there and tear down the fences, "to show who's boss." Last week, members of city council approved the mayor's recommendation to pursue legal action.

"As far as I know he hasn't fenced in private property, only water easements," said McAnally who estimated damages to by anywhere from $10,000 to $50,000.

According to a building department spokesperson contractors for the development site only "pulled permits" after the work was completed.

On Monday Flynn responded and said the matter should be resolved after the Friday hearing.

Getting the business

Twelve students from Romulus High School attended the Regional Skills Competition of Business and Office Education Clubs. The following students placed in their respective occupational areas: Christine Metevia, information processing specialist; Michelle Lord, legal application; Mapy Plaza, administrative assistant; Laurene Trill, information processing specialist; Katherine Kearns, legal applications; Christine Brandon, banking; Christine Strohchein, data assistant; Sonya Reese, employment skills; Tracey Hetzel, business math; Tracey Matheny, transcription; and Julie Giotfelty, transcription.

CHARTER TOWNSHIP OF VAN BUREN SPECIAL BOARD MEETING MINUTES APRIL 13, 1987

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Hamilton at 4:05 p.m. Present: Hamilton, Dudick, Foster, Heifner, Hudson, Kuchta and O'Brien. Others in attendance: Attorney Cummings, Chief Davies, Recreation Director Long, Secretary Tadrick and audience of five.

Special Meeting was called by Supervisor Hamilton to discuss Five Year Lease (1983-1988) of Township Property entered into with Gil and Sandy Gillespie. (Sandy's Marina, 41382 Edison Lake Road.)

Motion Dudick, support O'Brien to approve Agenda as presented. Carried.

Review of all Leases for Township Property was directed by the Board. A Committee was appointed to review Leases and present recommendations to the Board. The three leases at Old Township Hall have been renegotiated and completed.

In reviewing the Lease of Township Property, adjacent to Sandy's Marina, the Lessee was found to be in violation of paragraph which states "no permanent or semipermanent improvements thereon." Site inspection showed thirty three (33) slips for boat docking that are rented out by the lessee. Property is currently Leased at $100 per year. Discussion was held regarding: Increase of Lease Agreement Fee; Revoke Lease with removal of docks; and outright sale of property to Lessee.

Background information was distributed, for review, to all Board Members and the Attorney. Supervisor recommended third party be consulted to establish equitable fee for lease or sale. Lessee felt third party was unfair as he had filled and cleaned up the area. Attorney stated improvements to the land can be considered in lease or sale of property. Comment was received from resident of Edison Lake Road in favor of Lease remaining as is, stating area was previously unkept and other businesses have been given tax abatements.

Motion Foster, support Hudson that Attorney be directed to meet with the Lessee, prepare two proposals, a new Lease and Purchase of Property, to be considered by the Board. Carried.

Motion Hudson, support Kuchta to amend previous Motion to include Treasurer Foster's attendance at Meeting with Attorney and Lessee. Carried.

Supervisor, in response to questions from residents, reported on repairs to the Dam and raising of the Lake level. Bids are to be opened April 20th for crack and spall sealing and patching on face of Dam. A second opinion on the condition of the Dam has been completed by Engineering/Consulting Firm, Acres America. Until written report is received and all information available, no decision can be made on raising the lake to summer level.

Motion Hudson, support Heifner to hold a Public Hearing Thursday, April 16, 1987, at 6:30 p.m., regarding French Landing Dam Repairs and raising of Lake to summer level. Carried.

Motion Hudson, support Kuchta to adjourn at 5:45 p.m. Carried.

Memo

To: All bosses
From: Your secretary
Re: Salute to secretaries

Typing. Dictation. Phone messages. Correspondence. You rely on your secretaries for all of the above. The calendar said it was time to salute that office hero of yours, and the Associated Newspapers staff writers were quick to oblige.

It was interesting to note how dependent our local secretaries have become on the computer. According to some office workers, life as a secretary without a computer would be like life without electricity for everyone else.

Join us in our salute to secretaries, and remember that employee in your office who keeps your appointments in line, your office in shape and your files in order. And even if that special secretary occasionally finds you making a mistake, take or two, never forget how important the "team effort" is in making your office a sure success.

SALUTING SECRETARIES

Local professionals see image change

High technology may have invaded Sheila Blair's working quarters, but it hasn't altered her way of thinking.

Blair, 36, is a secretary in the Wayne City Hall. In the profession since age 14, Blair will admit that modernism has become the rule in the offices of the '80s, but she still adheres to a few secretarial notions some members of her profession would like to abolish.

"It's all a matter of cooperation. I don't mind getting my boss coffee or doing personal errands for him. The guys here don't really demand it, so it's hard to judge," Blair said. "I'm not your modern career woman who thinks it's below your duties to make coffee."

"I figure he's in charge of whether I'm doing my job. He's paying me," said Blair.

A native of the Wayne area, Blair entered the secretarial profession while a student at Franklin Junior High School. Never abandoning the clerical profession, she worked part time on several temporary assignments before landing her job with the city of Wayne last year.

"I first got into it because I thought it was a means of getting through college. I stuck with it because it was something I had experience in," Blair said of her start in the secretarial profession. "I enjoy it, and I raised my children while working."

"The market for a good secretary has some room for movement right now. There are a lot of good jobs out there for the good secretaries," Blair explained. "So many women are leaving the field for more prestigious jobs that a good secretary has lots of opportunities."

Romulus job has 'benefits'

Mingling among celebrities isn't the only thing Betsy Brown does, but the secretary to Mayor Beverly McAnally of Romulus admits it is a nice fringe benefit of her job.

Brown has met the past and present Wayne County executive and more than once she's crossed the path of Governor James Blanchard.

The hometown girl, born and raised on Ball Road in Romulus, has even shaken the hand of Tiger superstar Kirk Gibson.

But life goes on, and Brown goes back to the daily grind where she answers phones, types letters, attends meetings, and attempts to keep one step ahead of the mayor, including "typical filing and secretary stuff."

"When the mayor wants to know what appointments she has today or tomorrow, she asks me. I try to get her there on time," said Brown who maintains and organizes the mayor's daily schedule. "I have to keep up with a very busy mayor who is probably more energetic than me. It's interesting and fun trying to juggle everything."

"Hectic" is the word Brown uses to describe one day in the mayor's office. "The phones have been real busy this week for some reason," she said. "This is like the information center and complaint department for the city. You'd be surprised why people call the mayor, everything from residents who need shelter to inquiries about daylight savings time."

Mayor's aide loves position

Throughout the United States, there are hundreds of thousands of hardworking secretaries about to be honored during "Secretaries Week," April 20 through 24, and the City of Westland will be adding to that total.

One of those who deserves this honor is employed at city hall as Mayor Charles "Trav" Griffin's executive assistant. Cathy Shivers has worked at city hall since 1979, and been involved in the secretarial field for 10 years.

Shivers said the job has its benefits, and one of the biggest ones, person-to-person contact she experiences during her daily work. In addition, an executive assistant must be very diversified, knowing all the procedures of departments in city hall in order to properly direct the citizens who call.

This job, like all others, has some drawbacks as well, according to Shivers.

"The one thing I don't like is rude people who call in. When they call in and are rude without any forewarning, it's frustrating. We are here to help and when they call and start hollering and screaming, it's hard to take," she said.

Secretaries do much more than the old stereotype of making coffee and taking dictation on the bosses' knee, according to Shivers. Being competent, effective and knowledgeable of the position you fill, as well as knowledgeable about the person you work for, are very important criteria for a secretary, Shivers said.

School post is never boring

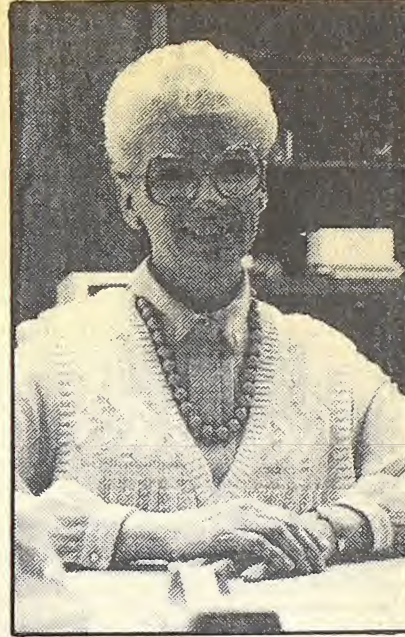

Sharon Coffee is one of the fortunate people who has a job she enjoys, congenial people to work with and "a nice boss" - Van Buren Superintendent of Schools Dr. Elvin Peets.

For almost 20 years, Coffee has been employed by the Van Buren School District. Between 1967 and 1968 she did general office work and from 1969 to 1973 she was secretary to the director of personnel. At that time, she became the secretary to the superintendent of schools.

"I love my job," Coffee said. "Some people think that it would be dull and routine, but it isn't. It is never dull because each year is completely different."

Coffee performs the usual secretarial duties for the school superintendent plus she also takes the minutes at the monthly board meetings and aids the superintendent in coordinating the school elections.

Her busiest times of the year are during elections and the preparation period to begin a new term. These are the times that she finds to be "super, super busy" in the administrative offices.

Coffee, who is a graduate of Belleville High School, recalled her four years in the secretarial program as "pretty basic."

"We took shorthand and then found a typewriter to transcribe our notes on," Coffee said. "We did not have the advantage of all of the computers and business machines that we take for granted today."

Marilyn Breuer conducts a class.

Teaching: High tech invades classroom

By MARK NICHOLAS
ANP Staff Writer

With the advent of modern technology, secretaries have been transformed from the stereotyped dictation taker and coffee maker, into high-tech computer wizards, expert at numerous office machine operations and fluent in several computer languages.

Responsible for this remarkable transition is the "modern" secretary and office skills teacher. That's the job of Marilyn Breuer, a 1981 Central Michigan University graduate and the office skills teacher at the night program at Wayne Memorial High School.

Breuer, who worked performing clerical duties while in college at Finch Fieldhouse, the indoor track and recreation center at CMU, said the secretarial field has changed over the years.

"There has been big changes in this field. Word processing is the big thing, since the early 70s, office technology has been changing so fast. In almost every ad for secretaries, the requirements are for CRT or word processing experience," she said.

The fast-paced secretarial world requires special qualities from potential secretaries, according to Breuer. The ability to adapt to change and new technologies is very important for modern secretaries, Breuer said.

Being in a field with such high technological turnover requires even the teacher to learn new things, Breuer said.

"Every time we get new equipment, it's a learning process, there's a big difference in the various equipment. We just received new Panasonic typewriters and they have new features that a regular typewriter just doesn't have."

The secretaries of today have much more responsibility than their counterparts of the past, Breuer said. Taking on more of the communication process of business is a big part of the added responsibility. In addition, Breuer said, larger companies give secretaries individual microprocessors to do their own typing and word processing, which indicates the growing trust and responsibility business are placing upon the secretaries of the 80s.

There is a definite trend in the up and down swings of the secretarial field, according to Breuer. In the night program in particular, Breuer said the secretarial program at Wayne Memorial tends to become saturated when there is high unemployment. Women (and men) tend to look for secretarial jobs when they are out of work and come to the office skills class for training.

Change is the name of the game in the secretarial industry, and according to Breuer, the clouds of change are on the horizon.

"The 'Business Cluster Approach' is what the teaching field is thinking about going to."

The Business Cluster Approach involves the teaching of word processing, data processing and computerized accounting, all in the same class. The purpose of this is to keep pace with the varied and rapidly changing secretarial and office skills field, Breuer said.

We want to collar a few good men.

The Archdiocese of Detroit has a job to do. We know some people who are facing tough choices in life who need good advice. We know some people who are facing no choices who still need hope. We know a lot of great kids who need a place to be kids, and maybe someone to bring the ball or the music. We know a few older people who are going to die whether or not someone is there to bring them peace.

All over the Archdiocese there are people who need a place to count their blessings and share their sorrows—people who need a hand, or a shoulder to lean on, or sometimes just an ear.

At Sacred Heart Seminary we're teaching young men to use the hands and shoulders and ears and hearts God gave them. It's a great education. A college degree. Graduate work. We'll give you up to eight years to decide you really want to be a priest before we ask you to do it for good.

Sure, the hours are long. But they're flexible. And if you come to work here, you'll get rich in ways few people can imagine.

Not everyone can do the job. If you think you can, call us. We can't call you.

We Invite God Calls

They won't mention you're getting a better deal with Household's great new home equity line of credit. And that it's called the "Better Than a Bank" equity credit line. Nor will they tell you how highly competitive our interest rate is.

Prime rate. You can count on prime—an introductory 7.5% APR—when you open your account* Banks, even Savings & Loans, have a tough time beating that. And our rate is far lower than most credit cards and personal loans.

More money. HFC can lend you up to 75% of equity, not the 70% many banks allow. That means you may lose out on thousands of dollars. You get your money faster, too. If you call today, we can often approve you today Over the phone. No committees. No delays.

For more information, mail the coupon or give us a call.

Why bankers don't talk about the rate on our home equity credit line.

We're where the money is.

Homeowner loans are made through Household Realty Corporation. *Beginning June 1, the APR varies at 3.5 percentage points over prime. On January 1, 1987 this rate would have been 11%. Standard closing costs apply plus a processing fee of not more than $200. Subject to confirmation of your income and the equity in your property.

Al Rice

Get your ladle! Chef fills tureens with good taste

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Al Rice works, as did his father and grandfather before him, as a professional cook. Today most people call them chefs.

And while he's a man who can mince vegetables with the speed of light, he isn't about to mince words. With 29 years experience in some of the most fashionable and elegant kitchens in the area, he doesn't have to. After all, this is a man who cooked for a president.

Rice was born and raised with five sisters and one brother in Kansas City, Missouri. Our dad cooked for the Wabash Railroad.

"I watched him roll out dough and bake biscuits. I was thrilled. It was my first time on a train. I knew then I wanted to be a cook. It really inspired me to see dad dressed in white pants, a coat and scarf. The year I graduated from high school he died. Before this, I had thought of becoming a professional wrestler or baseball player. He had helped me decide what I really wanted to do in life was cook," stressed the 50-year-old Rice.

Following a three year stint as a cook in the Air Force, Rice moved to Michigan where he married Juanita. With their seven children, they make their home in Inkster.

"I've never had any problem getting a job. For five years I cooked at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn and for shorter periods at the Michigan Inn, the Airport Hilton and the Soup Kitchen in Detroit," he said. Two weeks ago, Fellows Creek Country Club added Rice to the culinary staff. He also served as head cook at Al Green's Restaurant in Willow Run Airport for 10 years.

At People's Community Baptist, his local church, he helped form a group called "Super Chefs."

Rice is especially proud of his involvement in local athletics. For the 20-some years he's lived in Inkster, he has coached several baseball, basketball and football leagues. Many championship trophies line several shelves and fill many boxes in the Rice home as a result of his endeavors.

Rice offers this bit of advice to young or inexperienced cooks, "Don't get ahead of yourself. Listen as you go. There's a lot to learn out there. Learn the basics of temperature and how to use a knife. Always cook at the required temperature and make sure your knife is sharp."

The last meal former President Harry Truman tasted may have been somewhat bland because of his dietary restrictions, nevertheless it was cooked by Al Rice, then a hospital chef.

Miss Grimble offers simple cheesecake

Does anybody out there remember Miss Grimble? Years ago, she was considered the authority on desserts in New York. Seriously, she was responsible for some of the most famous, and delicious creations ever placed on the tables at some of the finest restaurants in the city. Most of them, as is still the custom, claimed her creations as their own, but Miss Grimble was unique and one taste of her culinary wizardry was enough to immortalize her forever in the memory of the taste buds.

She had collected recipes from her childhood, from her neighbors and friends--and she often admitted that the secret of her success wasn't her abilities, but rather her acquaintance with some of the best, although unheralded, cooks in the country.

Miss Grimble's name is synonymous with the richest, most delectable desserts to be found. Her original fame came from baking cheesecake served at her husband's barbecue restaurant. While his barbecue didn't succeed, no one forgot the cheesecake. From there, "the homemaker least likely to succeed," as one of her home economics teachers dubbed her during high school, went on to bake her mouth-watering creations for Neiman Marcus, The Sign of the Dove and Maxwell's Plum.

Her cheesecakes made her famous, so here is just one of her recipes prefaced with some of her expert advice on preparing the delights which made her famous.

- Have all ingredients at room temperature.

- Beat egg whites on a large platter with a flat type wire whisk, unless the recipe included directions to beat them in an electric mixer. Miss Grimble claims that desserts will always be lighter, larger and fluffier if this extra effort is expended.

- Always preheat the oven for 10 to 15 minutes.

- Use an oven thermostat. Don't trust the gauge on the stove, as oven temperatures vary widely.
- If cheesecakes brown too quickly at designated oven temperatures, cover the top loosely with aluminium foil for the duration of baking.
- When baking a chocolate or mocha cake, dust the pan with cocoa.

THE ABC CHEESECAKE

This is as simple as a cheesecake can be. For a beginner, it's perfect.

CRUST:

- 9 inch springform pan, buttered (YES! BUTTERED)
- 16 honey graham crackers, crushed (equals 2 cups)
- 4 tablespoons butter, melted

Combine the crumbs and butter and line the bottom and sides of the pan. (Simple, eh? Told you so!)

FILLING

- 3 8-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1 cup sugar
- 4 eggs, separated
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In an electric mixer, cream the cheese with the sugar, egg yolks and vanilla until smooth. Beat the egg whites until stiff peaks form and then gently fold into the cheese mixture. Pour this into the prepared pan and bake in the preheated oven for 40-50 minutes. Remove from the oven.

TOPPING

- 1 pint sour cream

Bunny hug

Kristie McDonald (right) 5, and Hillary Kroll, 3, were on hand to give the Easter Bunny a huge hug last Friday during the Wayne County Parks System Great Marshmallow Drop, staged in Edward Hines Park, Westland. Kelly Geiger (left), 12, of Westland, was also one of dozens of youngsters who scurried to gather up marshmallows in the drop. The fluffy, white treats could later be exchanged for candy and prizes. Betrayal flying solo

dave willert

At the risk of convincing the world that I have become a devout cynic, I am going to offer some observations here which for many will be hard to accept.

Nevertheless, it is my firm conviction that one of the most difficult emotional experiences in life is dealing with feeling of betrayal. I do emphasize the word feeling. It might be more appropriate to use the term perception, because it seems one only has to feel a sense of betrayal for it to be real.

"For, like it or not, our perception is our reality and our truth compared to the truth of another can sometimes be very confusing. I have learned, painfully, that there is often more than one truth in most situations.

The wide-eyed optimist and Pollyannas of the work tend to go through life committing the ultimate betrayal. They more often than not only wish things were as they pretend them to be, thereby betraying the very values they profess to believe in and purport to be ready to defend.

Very often the unfaithful are those who profess a great loyalty to another person or people, a group or a cause. Sometimes their faithlessness is demonstrated with an unconscious word or act, and they are unaware of their own actions and the consequences which are inevitable.

That might be because these people could not live with the knowledge of the damage and pain their action or inaction precipitates, or perhaps they simply wish to remain unaware of the results of their antics because it is easier...or more convenient.

In any event, there are many in life, and you and I could name a few without too much thought, who commit acts of emotional adultery every day. It is, of course, difficult for any of us to look in the mirror and judge our own conduct as less than satisfactory, particularly in an area as sensitive as this.

We all are guilty in one way or another of some act of betrayal of our own professed beliefs and convictions. What troubles me most is the inability people have when it comes time to come to grips with what I call "the big lie."

A thief who is a good father, spouse or neighbor but in reality lives beyond the measure of the law is certainly guilty of the big lie. This individual might even be nominated for the traitors' hall of fame.

Many live a lie in their marriages. For whatever reason, they feel trapped in a life style, or other circumstance they cannot accept, and yet, to escape would involve facing the truth. They choose, instead, to continue to live a lie.

Others cling to friendships of long standing which really serve them poorly. They continue to devote time and emotional energy to a relationship simply because it is of such duration.

Then there are those who are miserable at their chosen career or job. They dislike their employer, their supervisor, the product they produce or sell, and yet they continue, year after year, never actually facing the truth.

Should they acknowledge the emotional abandonment they have suffered, a choice must be made. While it is often subconscious, more and more, I'm beginning to realize that many people remain in situations, tied to another human being or job, from an inability to face the consequences of change.

What often follows the realization of the true nature of the relationship is revenge, abandonment or even an overt act of severance of the ties for all the world to see.

It's been said that "What God loves is the truth," but sometimes that truth is a bitter pill to swallow. And when you realize, as I have, that there is often more than one truth, life becomes complicated, at best.

It has become my strong conviction that when a truth surfaces that cannot be denied, all are best served by looking the situation squarely in the eye and marching into the malestorm of emotion it usually takes to change the situation. In the end, I believe that the real truth will out and a betrayal will be revealed for what it really is, an act of emotional larceny of the heart.

The courts are full of charges of legal betrayals of one sort or another, leases, agreements, contracts, marriage vows and promises. And as it is not for us to judge these, it is not for us to judge others' betrayals of trust, love or friendship. That, I believe, will be taken care of at a higher level.

Perhaps it is simply for us to do our best to face ourselves honestly in the mirror and work to be true to the sense of values and moral code we have adopted for ourselves. See you next week.

A matter of public safety

Just as the weather has turned warm and sunny, and boaters are preparing for the summer recreational season, dark clouds are looming over the only lake within Wayne County.

Van Buren Township officials have announced that the water level in Belleville Lake cannot be raised this spring due to the discovery of underwater damage to the French Landing Dam. An engineering report, based on the inspection of a diving team, has noted "open joints, severe spalling and exposed reinforcing steel." The report further stated that stop-gap measures to repair the dam would not be cost effective and recommended that a long-term solution to the problem be explored. Based on the engineering report, the Department of Natural Resources will not recommend that Belleville Lake be raised to its summer level.

At this time, Belleville Lake is at its low winter level with wide stretches of lake bottom exposed and large islands where only small ones usually exist. Docks are high and dry, and some boats are resting on the muddy lake bottom. At its present level, Belleville Lake will be considerably diminished as a recreational area, although it will still be open to fishermen and boaters.

Clearly, the closer one gets to the water, the larger the problem looms. Business owners who depend on the summer trade will undoubtedly lose money this summer and boat owners will find some launching places less accessible. Lake property owners will continue to pay taxes based on their "favorable locations" and lakefront apartment dwellers will still pay a premium rent on their units. As one views the lake level problem from their perspective, we can understand their concern, displeasure and frustration.

Boaters, fishermen and lakeshore dwellers have expressed shock that the dam problem was not revealed until shortly before the start of the summer recreational season. Many have requested that the township board look for a temporary solution that would give them a higher lake level for the summer and then seek a permanent solution in the fall.

Van Buren Township Supervisor Lynne Hamilton and the township board are in an unenviable position of being in the middle of the issue with no easy solutions available.

Hamilton, seemingly, has been stymied at several points as he has sought to correct the situation. Work was begun on the dam in 1979 through a federal works program, and when the program ended, voters did not approve a bond issue to complete the project. The township then applied for state grants which were denied two years in a row. Currently, a license is being sought to improve the dam with a private developer, but the application is mired in the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, according to township officials.

Questions have been raised as to why the township has not sought another vote on the bond issue and why the decision to keep the lake at the winter level was brought up at the 11th hour. The public deserves an explanation on these two questions. To a third question, "why didn't we do something sooner?" Van Buren Township Treasurer, Helen Foster, gave an honest answer – "Because we didn't have a crisis."

Foster's comment was a valid one and, perhaps, holds within it the answer to the other questions. Unfortunately, it is difficult to create enthusiasm for a project or to raise support for a millage hike or a bond issue until there is a crisis. We would speculate that if the French Landing Dam situation had been revealed in December there would not have been a high level of interest. Obviously, those who did not support the 1984 bond issue did not think action was critical at that time. If the same question were on the ballot at this time, we speculate that those who are primarily affected by the low lake levels would be out beating the drums in support of the issue.

Of prime concern is the safety of the dam and the safety of those who live down stream and would be placed in jeopardy in the event of a dam failure. Responsibility for the health, safety and welfare of the residents and the safety of lives and property of the people who dwell down stream of the French Landing Dam weigh heavily on the township officials. Whatever their feelings of empathy and sympathy for those who will suffer a temporary monetary loss or a recreational loss, the decisions made by Hamilton and the other members of the board must first focus on the safety of the community.

Some expert advice

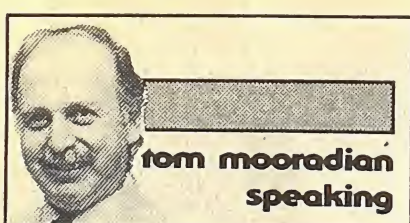

About a year ago a consulting firm invaded the Van Buren School District, and when it retreated to New York it left a controversial study on the laps of the members of the board of education.

The study, initiated by the school board in hopes of finding some cost-saving recommendations, recommended that the school district rid itself of its custodial employees and go out for bids for the work.

The recommendation, as far as I know, was never implemented.

Now comes before the city of Inkster, at the city council's request, the consulting firm of Coopers & Lybrand.

Realizing that this is an age of declining revenues and belt-

tom mooradian speaking tightening, the city fathers hoped that representatives from Coopers & Lybrand would come up with a plan to save the city money. According to city officials, the city coffers are nearly depleted, and fears "of Ecorse" can be echoed throughout city hall.

Ecorse, of course, is dead broke. The state went in through its representatives to clean up that downriver community's fiscal act. They cut anything that showed fat and are now down to the marrow.

And most of the officials you speak to at the Inkster City Hall quickly remind you, "that we don't want to be like Ecorse."

So one of Coopers & Lybrand's recommendation was "to reduce the number of full-time positions in the fire department. Hire, train and utilize a reserve work force to supplement the reduced full-time staff and invest the cost savings in the new equipment."

It sounds good.

But "volunteer" has become a four-letter word in these parts. Understandably, the firefighters are fighting to protect their jobs. They and their families and friends were on hand last Thursday at a city-organized "public forum" to express their opinions about the proposed reorganization plan. And some were not so nice about what they had to say.

The city fathers are hoping that "through attrition" — whatever that means — they hope to replace those firefighters who retire, quit, or are willing to take other positions with the city.

The firefighters are saying no way. They argue the city has a contract with them to maintain at least 17 full-time firefighters and that's the way it's going to be.

So next month the two parties will go into binding arbitration. Guess who'll win.

I placing my money on the firefighters.

And there should be some kind of law that would permit cities and school districts to receive partial and/or full refunds on studies that are not implemented.

Wayne county may seek millage vote

BELLEVILLE - Van Buren Superintendent of Schools Dr. Elwin Peets informed the board of education that Wayne County may be asking for an addition mill for special education needs. Although no ballot date is scheduled at this time, the superintendent indicated that an increase in the number of programs and the cost of those programs had caused a shortfall in the amount received from current taxation.

In the event of a millage request, the school board indicated that it would support the increase but would request that any surplus generated from the taxes be returned to the districts.

House inspections still on hold

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP - No action was taken by the Sumpter Township Board on a motion to require a certification inspection before a house can be sold.

Township Treasurer John Morgan recommended further study of the issue and recommended that it be referred to the city attorney.

"Most people build their homes before there were codes. This (the certification inspection) would be a hardship to a lot of people. Some may have to rebuild before they can sell," Morgan said.

Morgan said that many township residents have bought their homes "in good faith" when inspections and certifications were not required. He indicated that numerous problems could occur for the homeowners if they cannot sell their homes without passing a current certification inspection.

news in brief

Hats 'on'
Local residents could be spotted sporting their Easter bonnets and fine clothing last Sunday as Christians celebrated the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. Although hundreds of local churches reported wall-to-wall crowds, we spotted just a few members heading for worship. At the left, Kelly Greene and her family wait to enter church in Wayne, and (left) Emma Wagoner approaches St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus. Meanwhile, the entire Rutkowski family show up at St. Aloysius for the Easter eve activities.

Church has new home

By SHERRY WOODARD
ANP Staff Writer

A short time ago, the Rev. Weldon Spracklen conducted an inquiry at his church in Wayne and discovered that many members of his congregation were relocating. "We took a survey of our people and they were telling us they were moving to Canton," he said, "We've got 25 families moving to Canton." And now the rest of the church will follow suit. Mr. Spracklen's Calvary Baptist Church in Wayne will, in a couple of years, become The First Baptist Church in Canton Township. Incidentally, there is already a Calvary Baptist Church in Canton, so the name change will undoubtedly avoid much confusion. The fact that many Calvary Baptist members were moving to the booming suburb of Canton was only part of the reason the church is moving here, Mr. Spracklen said. The other reason is growth. "We're full having two services," he said. There are nearly 1,500 names on the church membership rolls. Of that number, between 600 and 700 attend services regularly.

It would have been nice to remain in Wayne, the minister said, but there was no acceptable land available large enough to accommodate the expansion plans of the church. An 18-acre tract of the northwest corner of Cherry Hill and Sheldon Road in central Canton was perfect however. "We got a good deal on it," Mr. Spracklen said, but he declined comment on just how much was spent on the property. The land is near Griffin Park as well as residential communities. Calvary Baptist will build its new church in phases. Initially a gymnasium and Family Life Center will be constructed, the reverend said. As soon as construction of the gym is completed, church services will relocate to it. Later will come the building of the sanctuary which will seat 1,000 people. Total cost of construction is expected to be $2.5 million. While the land the new church will be built on has been paid for by Calvary Baptist, loans have been made to pay for construction of the new buildings. Other funds will come when the church sells its present land; 5.6 acres on Van Born near Merriman. "Our property is getting more valuable as commercial property," the reverend said.

Rev. Weldon Spracklen

Weather brings more to church

Local churches not only saw more attendance this past Easter Sunday but they also displayed more Easter flowers. "I guess the price was right," said a spokesperson from United Methodist in Wayne. "We had 40 Easter lilies last year and this year there were 60. At Christmas 60 poinsettias were donated." Most local church congregations agreed. Attendance was about average for an Easter celebration. United Methodist saw 325 participants at their two services. Calvary Baptist said their attendance was "great." "We see people this time of year that don't visit any other time, not even at Christmas. There are no special services. We try to make them good every Sunday," said Cathy Hawbaker, the pastor's wife. First Congregational Church in Wayne said it was a typical Easter Sunday. "We always take a count. From last year, there was a 10-15 person difference. We were very happy with attendance. Fifty-seven Easter Lilies were donated and displayed, two more than last year," the church secretary said. At St. Mary's Catholic Church over 3,500 people attended the five services.

PERFECT!

Way strikes out 19 of 21 — is perfect

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Ron Way made high school baseball history last week.

And the 6-0, 175-pound Wayne Memorial senior pitcher used Belleville High to do it.

Way pitched a perfect game against Coach John Bertz' Tigers. Facing 21 batters over the 7-inning span, the senior southpaw notched an auspicious 19 strikeouts to card the historic 6-0 victory over his Wolverine 'A' Conference rivals.

It was the first time in recent memory that a local prep pitcher had turned in with a perfect game.

"I have been around these parts for many years," said Wayne Memorial Coach Jim Chronowski, "and I can't recall when the last perfect game was recorded. Ron was just outstanding. He was throwing heat out there, mixing up his pitches and using the curve ball to throw them off stride."

Only two Belleville batters - Pat Ringwalski and Steve Ostrowski - got wood on any of Way's pitches. In the second, Ringwalski drove a line drive to centerfielder Mike Heard, and in the fourth inning Ostrowski bounced out short to first.

Way retired the rest of the Tiger lineup on strikeouts.

In the meantime, Wayne supported their perfect pitcher with a single run in the first inning as Ken Dropiewski walked, stole second, then Doug Quartuccio also walked, but Way hit into a double play, with Dropiewski safe at third.

That brought up Doug Florn who sliced a run-scoring single to give the Zebras what proved to be enough to win the game.

However, Wayne came back for two insurance runs in the second inning as Bob Dalton drilled a single to start the rally. After Brian Hughes popped up to the catcher, Ron Wojewski singled, and an error allowed the runners to reach second and third. Gary Zerona flied out and Dropiewski again came through with a two-run double.

Wayne scored three more in this historic game in the fourth as Hughes was safe on an error, was sacrificed to second by Wojewski and Zerona latched on to a single, scoring one run. Dro-piewski again doubled, putting runners on second and third, bringing to the plate Quartuccio who drilled a two-run single.

Way, whose personal record is 2-0 on season, pitched a four-hitter in his senior debut against Lincoln Park. Wayne has piled up a 3-0 conference record before the Easter holidays.

In the meantime, Westland John Glenn stretched its winning streak to five at the expense of conference rivals.

On Monday, old nemesis North Farmington traveled to Wayne Memorial (Glenn is playing its home games at Wayne because the Rocket diamond is being repaired) and several major league scouts were on hand to catch North's outstanding 6-5 lefthander Rick Karcher.

Karcher was pitted against Glenn's hard-throwing senior southpaw Bill Barber for this Western Lakes pitching duel.

But the duel didn't materialize.

In the first inning, North jumped on Barber for three runs - a double, home run and triple and a sacrifice fly gave the visitors a quick 3-0 edge.

But the Westlanders refused to buckle.

The Rockets came right back and got to Karcher as Tom Walker and Clint Straub led off with walks. After Karcher had seemingly settled down and gotten two outs, shortstop Rick Tavormina also walked, loading the bases.

Then, Chris Scheffer came to bat and lashed a single to short center field that chased home two runs. Bryant Satterlee's single got the tying run home and all thoughts of a pitching duel dissipated and thoughts of an offensive war was launched.

Glenn broke the deadlock in the second inning with three-more runs. Two walks, a pair of errors, a fielder's choice off the bat of Barber and an RBI single by Tavormina put the Rockets ahead to stay.

North closed the gap in the third but Barber shut down the North offense the rest of the way, limiting them to only three hits while fanning seven on the day.

Glenn added a run in the fourth inning on a groundout by Straub that provided Glenn its final 7-4 margin.

The Rocket Express rolled into Walled Lake and took on Central High School on Wednesday and came away with an 11-4 victory. Tavormina powered the offense with a homer and Pat Pettit went 2-for-3 on the day, including a double. Mike Hammontree got the victory on the mound.

In the meantime, Livonia Franklin suffered its first setback of the 1987 campaign as cross-town rival, Churchill, emerged atop a 4-3 extra innings victory.

In the top of the eighth Franklin scored on a sacrifice fly by Pat Greener who chased home Mike Wozniak from third. Wozniak reached first on a walk, was sacrificed to second by Mike Davis and advanced to third on a passed ball.

But, the Patriots' lead was short-lived as Churchill came back in the bottom of that inning

En route to Bowling Green

The question where Romulus High basketball stand-out, Billy Johnson, will continue his cage career was answered last week as the 6-3 all-state guard signed a national letter of intent to enroll at Bowling Green State University. Johnson averaged more than 20 points per game in his senior year and was the catalyst behind the Eagles' drive to a Class A district title. He also was a member of Romulus' state championship team that included All-American center Terry Mills.

Romulus cage star signs with Bowling Green

Billy Johnson, who led Romulus to a Class A district basketball title and was recently named to The Associated Newspapers' All-Area basketball team, has decided where he wants to continue his education.

Johnson, a 6-3, 180-pound all-state guard, became the fifth prep standout to sign a national letter of intent to attend Bowling Green State University next fall, according to Bowling Green Coach Jim Larranga.

Johnson joins Toledo area products Ed Colbert Jr. of Macomber High School, Derek Kizer of Bowsher and Brad Morrison of Oregon Clay High School, as well as Joe Moore from the Bronx, NY, in the Class of 1991 of Bowling Green State University.

"Billy played on the state championship team at Romulus as a junior, and that helped develop his confidence," Larranga said. "He had an outstanding senior season, in our opinion, he's the kind of player that will really blossom in college."

Playing under Coach Dan Henry at Romulus for three varsity seasons, Johnson was named to the first team Associated Newspapers'

All-Area team and was named to the sixth team Detroit Free Press All-Michigan. He was also selected to the second team Detroit News All-Metro West.

A two-year starter, he averaged nine points per game on Romulus Class A state championship team. Last season as a senior, Johnson averaged 24.9 points, 8.3 rebounds, 5.2 assists, and three steals. He was co-captain and later named Most Valuable Player of the 1986-87 squad that went 14-9 and gained a berth in the regional tournament.

Johnson, who once scored 42 points in a game against neighboring Belleville, also lettered three years in track for the Romulus Eagles.

The son of Calvin and Patricia Johnson, Billy, an honor roll student for the last three years, intends to major in business at BGSU.

Coach Larranga's first Falcon basketball team was the surprise team of the Mid-American Conference last season. Picked to finish last in the Mid-American Conference, BG posted a 15-14 overall record and finished third in the MAC with a 10-6 mark. The Falcons were also semi-finalists in the post-season MAC tournament.

Field events are not enough as Belleville falls to Monroe, 93-35

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although they dominated the field events, Belleville couldn't stop title-favorite Monroe in a Wolverine 'A' Conference track meet last week.

Coach Dave McCarney's Tigers captured four field events with Jeff Borders and Deon Ford each claiming two, but they fell short 93-35. It was Belleville's first setback of the track campaign.

"Although we suffered our first defeat to an excellent Monroe team," McCarney noted, "I believe we made significant progress."

"We surprised the Monroe coach with our four first place finishes in the field events, but we just didn't have enough depth in running events to score," he said.

Borders tossed the discus 132 feet, 5 inches to score a first in that event and he also chalked up a victory in the shot put with a 41 feet, 5 inch toss.

Ford continued to excel in the high and long jumps. He successfully negotiated 6-feet for his win in the high jump, then leaped 21 feet, 2 inches for his second win, in the long jump.

Belleville also stashed away the 220-yard dash thanks to the efforts of Joe Parks who was clocked in the winning time of 23.20.
